

FASCINATING SUBJECT

TO DR. C. STUART STEELMAN
SCIENCE OF OPTICS IS SIMPLE MATTER

Ever study optics? No? Begin at once. It's the most fascinating subject imaginable. If you know the science of optics, that is, if you're a down-to-the-minute man, and know all about the phoro-optometer, the combined ophthalmoscope and retinoscope, the ophthalmometer and the mediaometer, and all that, you can get the goods on your neighbor every time. You simply can't fail. The eye is the best posted member in the human anatomy, and the worst tale-bearer you ever heard of—about yourself. Talk about the chattering tongue! It is silence compared with it. The eye is absolutely without scruple or judgment, and all you need is a chummy familiarity with optics. Get that, and you can write the unabridged memoirs of your neighbors. You are enabled to get behind the scenes and view them, not darkly, as in a looking glass, but face to face. By merely regarding him in the eye—scientifically, of course—you know what Jim Jones had for lunch on Monday, and what it did to him; you know what he said when he wrenched a button from his pants, and where he said it; you know just how much truth he is telling you when he touches you for a dollar and says he will pay you back to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock; you can tell what is on his mind, how long it has been there, and how long it will stay; if he proposed to his girl and was rejected, you know all about it—what he said to her, how he said it, and how he took it; what she said to him, how she said it, and how she gave. It's all an open book to you.

So close a connection has the eye with every other part of the body, and so sensitive is it, it registers everything. But does that make the eye an easy study? An optician has to take a course of twelve studies: chemistry, geometry, higher mathematics, wave theory, physiology, anatomy, diseases of the human body, the nervous system, theoretical optics, practical optics, and refraction of the eye. And the course takes three years. But even that does not complete your preparation, though it gives you a good start. The study of the human eye is all pure science, pure mathematics, and a few other purses. And then you must add yourself and think in terms of optics. This does not mean that the skilled optician should be a hermit, or absent-minded; but his subject is with him, consciously or subconsciously, most of the time. Opticians are surely philosophers, for they are usually cheerful.

Take Dr. C. Stuart Steelman. The most cheerful little fellow you ever met, though with a serious, well-furnished mind that has familiarized itself with the minutiae and mechanics of optics. Let him tell you about his science, his wonderful instruments, the latest inventions to aid in the study of the eye, and he will put you in the air quicker than the operating surgeon can put you to sleep—and both amount to about the same thing—but Steelman does it with a grace and an aplomb that's fairly wonderful, too.

To Dr. Steelman optics is a very simple matter. Take this elementary question in the science, for example: "A hyperoptic person of two diopters standing on the shore looking at a battleship three miles out, 300 meters long, what is the size of the retinal image in this man's eye?" What's the answer? But it's too elementary for anything.

Besides the hyperoptic and the two diopters, there's the miopic person. Presumably he is something of a person, or he wouldn't be mentioned so prominently in the list; but he is no more to the average layman than is the hyperoptic. If it's your eyes that bother you—see Dr. Steelman—he's the doctor.

CHIEF HERALD RETURNS

Chief of Police George H. Herald has returned from his two weeks' vacation, after a remarkable trip by auto, accompanied by his wife and sons.

They went through the Owens river country, made Mammoth, the Tioga Pass, at a 10,000 foot elevation, where the snow never melts, and in this region they camped for a time. The chief says they found the days pleasant and the nights cold. Then they came down through the Columbia entrance to Yosemite Park, where they made another camp, crossed the Yosemite and came out by way of Wawona at the southwestern entrance. They came home by way of Joaquin Valley. The trip covered 900 miles.

HOUSES IN DEMAND

J. B. DONER SAYS HE HAS MANY REQUESTS FOR HOMES
EVERY DAY

"People are coming here from Los Angeles every day; sometimes there will be as many as half a dozen of them in my office at the one time, seeking homes to rent, furnished and unfurnished," J. B. Doner, the real estate man, said this morning. "There is a great demand, but we can't supply it."

"What we need in Glendale, and need badly at the present time, is more homes, bungalow courts, and buildings at moderate rents. They would add hundreds to the population. The people want to come here, because of the desirability of Glendale as a home town."

"But another thing we need is a 5-cent fare. Let us get that, and the population will double in two years. Glendale is a choice location; it has advantages above any other suburb of Los Angeles. It is noted for its pure air, pure water, and daily breezes, and we are six or seven degrees cooler than Pasadena, Monrovia, or any of the other towns that are near the mountains. The inducements are strong and if we had the proper carfare, why, you couldn't keep the people from coming here. We need more home enterprise, and with a better carfare there would be no end to our development."

PRACTICAL PLANTING IDEAS

The theoretical agricultural expert who, through the columns of a Los Angeles evening paper, advises people to plant at this time of the year, in order to cut down the cost of living, does not, it appears, always talk by the book.

City Clerk J. C. Sherer, who has had many years of experience, said, in speaking of this advice: "The expert does not take into account the local conditions, particularly the danger from frost. As a matter of fact, it was really late for the planting of potatoes, tomatoes, squashes, or any of the succulent plants susceptible to danger from frost."

"It is even taking a risk to plant peas at this season, not that they are so easily damaged as some of the others, but it is difficult to get a crop at this season of the year. Potatoes, for instance, require three months to mature a crop, and there is always danger from frost after the first of November."

MANY VISIT DAHLIA GARDENS

The dahlia gardens of Mrs. H. A. LaGross are now the Mecca towards which lovers of the beautiful are wending their way. There, more than one hundred and fifty varieties of the choicest dahlias this country and Europe ever produced are at the height of their beauty. Mrs. LaGross makes dahlia culture her hobby and is recognized as an authority on dahlias. She grows only the rare varieties, importing many of her bulbs and sparing neither time nor expense to secure a rare specimen of this interesting floral family. Her garden at 301 North Louise street is truly a beauty spot and is open to the public that all may enjoy its loveliness.

PATRIOTIC SONGS SUNG BY THE PEOPLE

With the consent and hearty cooperation of City Manager Watson, arrangements are being made to have a weekly service of patriotic song, in which the whole Glendale congregation are invited to join. It will be held at the southeast corner of Broadway and Louise street, adjoining the Glendale News building, at least one evening each week—presumably Saturday—beginning the first Saturday in September.

Since the words "patriotic" and "patriarchal" are derived from "pater," father, all religious songs originally also were "patriotic," dedicated to God the Great Father as well as to country.

This basic idea will be kept in view while arranging the programs for that Glendalian congregational singing.

All who are willing to join in such effort, either for song or accompaniment, orchestral, violin, piano, ukulele or saxophone, fluegel horn or otherwise, are invited to notify the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. This suggestion was first made by Mr. Samuel Parker, well known as a writer of patriotic song.

If public announcement be made from pulpits, forums and all other association platforms, it will help on with this patriotic work.

SECRETARY,
Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

U. S. AND LABOR HEADS AGREE

COMPROMISE PROVIDES FOR COMMITTEE TO FIX WAGES
AND CONDITIONS OF LABOR IN SHIP YARDS

GERMAN AVIATORS ATTACK HOSPITALS

MAKE DELIBERATE RAIDS ON RED CROSS BASES KILLING
FORTY-THREE NURSES AND PATIENTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, August 25.—Proof that Germany is deliberately attacking field hospitals by means of air raids was evident when a German aviator brought down behind the French lines was found to be carrying a photo of the hospital at Vadelaine Court showing the Red Cross insignia on the roof, which he was to have attacked. The Germans have already bombarded four hospitals in the Verdun section, killing 43 nurses and patients and wounding 55. Nearly always the German aviators sweep close to the ground and fire at the fleeing nurses.

PREPARE FOR SPRING OFFENSIVE

REPLY TO THE POPE AND EXTENSION OF CREDIT TO RUSSIA INDICATES CONTINUATION OF STRUGGLE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, August 25.—America and her allies are preparing for another winter's campaign and a great spring offensive to turn the scale. The forthcoming reply to the Pope and the extension of aid to Russia will indicate this policy. Between now and late winter the allies hope to place Russia on her feet ready for a concerted blow against the enemy.

MARRIED MEN TO BE EXEMPT

PRESIDENT WILSON DECLARES FIRST DRAFT TO BE MADE UP OF MEN NOT HEADS OF FAMILIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, August 25.—President Wilson declared to-day that the first draft of 687,000 citizen soldiers will be made up of men not heads of families. In a letter to Secretary of War Baker the president said the only exception would be made in the case of a man seeking exemption who has dependents but who has sufficient income to supply the needs of these dependents. The president's declaration will result in a modification of the rules recently promulgated by Gen. Crowder.

CANADIANS POUND AT LENS

ADVANCED INTO THE CITY LAST NIGHT CAPTURING TRENCHES NEAR RAILROAD STATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, August 25.—The Canadians continue to hammer at Lens, advancing during the night astride the railroad in the city and capturing trenches only 1000 yards from the station itself. As a result of a cold-blooded sacrifice of men, headquarters reports show that the enemy retook Inverness Cops.

FRENCH PROGRESS NEAR VERDUN

OFFICIAL FRENCH WAR OFFICE REPORTS GAINS NEAR HILL 304 AND SUCCESSFUL RAIDS IN BELGIUM

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, August 25.—More progress has been made in the French offensive in the Verdun sector north of Hill No. 304, according to official statements. "We carried three German works. Yesterday 430 unwounded prisoners were taken," the report says. In Belgium the French were successful in all raids.

CONVENTION OF CATHOLIC SOCIETIES

GREAT GATHERING OF NOTED CHURCHMEN IS IN SESSION
AT KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., August 25.—Ten archbishops, including the papal delegate; twenty-four bishops; heads and instructors of several Catholic universities; representatives of every Catholic diocese in the United States and nearly two thousand laymen delegates are here for the annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies which beginning to-morrow continues for five days. The meeting is regarded as one of the greatest gatherings of Catholics in the country's history, nearly all members of the American hierarchy being in attendance.

ASK PASTOR'S RETURN

FIRST M. E. CHURCH BOARD
IN QUARTERLY CONFERENCE
TRANSACTS MUCH BUSINESS

At the close of the prayer meeting service on last Wednesday night the First Methodist Church of Glendale held its fourth and last Quarterly Conference for the year just closing. This was the first session held in the new church building, and proved to be the most largely attended, enthusiastic and successful in the history of the congregation.

Rev. A. Ray Moore, District Superintendent, presided. J. N. McGillis, Recording Steward, was appointed secretary.

Detailed reports from every department were submitted. These reports show the church to be thoroughly organized, with aggressive leaders at the head of each department. The report of the pastor, Rev. B. Dudley Snudden, was most encouraging, being a resume of his pastoral labors for the year. In addition to the many regular duties devolving upon a pastor, Mr. Snudden has had the burden of building a new church on his shoulders, and the magnificent new $53,000 structure stands as a monument to his untiring efforts and devotion to duty. Besides raising this large amount, the congregation will pay in full every obligation for the support of the ministry and benevolences assessed against it. This latter amount is approximately $5,500.

Second only to the pastor's report was that of the Ladies' Aid Society, which shows that $1,138.75 had been raised and expended during the year.

Reports were received from each department and not a single branch of the work is dormant. L. C. Leeds, Asst. Supt. of the Sunday School, stated that never before in his experience of thirty years in church work had he found such a ready response on the part of men and women when requested to assist in the work of the school.

In spite of the present unsettled conditions caused by war and the heavy burden of erecting a new church, this has been the most successful year in its history.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by a standing vote:

"Whereas, Our new church plant is practically complete, our church activities in splendid condition, our sermons unexcelled, our finances coming up, our people working and happy, and

Whereas, Our pastor B. Dudley Snudden, and his good wife, are almost wholly responsible for this condition of affairs;

Therefore, Be it resolved, that we do earnestly request that our pastor and his wife be returned to this church next year."

The District Superintendent assured the Board that if one was returned they would both be sent back; that under no circumstance would he separate them.

The following motion also prevailed by a unanimous standing vote: That this conference request the presiding Bishop of the coming annual conference to re-appoint Rev. A. Ray (Continued on Page 3)

WILL COOK BY ELECTRICITY

The promise of an increase in gas rates in Glendale has caused her citizens to inquire about the cost of cooking electrically. The Evening News is now heating two melting pots by means of gas. Electricity may do the work just as well. A comparison of rates will be considered.

AUTO ACCIDENT

The little shower on Friday was the cause of an automobile accident which might have been quite serious. As it was, the party escaped with only a broken machine.

Two autos, in one of which were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Heinen and sons, Mrs. Mary J. Brooks and the Misses Joslin, and in the other Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ainsworth, Mrs. C. M. Ainsworth and Miss E. S. Ainsworth, with Mr. Bullinger as driver of the latter, left Glendale for a motor trip to Riverside. As they neared Pomona, the shower overtook them, the roads became slippery and the Heinen machine skidded. Turning clear around, they broke a spindle and the front wheel. Fortunately they did not turn turtle and none of the party was injured. But Mrs. Heinen says that they came as near going to heaven as she cares to under such circumstances.

WELCOMING SUNDAY

MR. PARKER RECALLS THE DAYS
WHEN HE HELD GEORGE
ON HIS KNEE

Not among the welcoming one hundred at the Hotel Clark a day or two ago, I have a bit of welcome on my own account which I am sure your readers and the young manager himself will not find devoid of interest. That I might have been at the hotel and was not may be charged up to my native desire to keep in the background and not to any fear of meeting Manager George or his parents.

All lived in the same block in Chicago, cornering on Throop and Adams for a matter of 25 or more years, covering the girlhood of Mrs. Sunday, her marriage and the birth of the children from Helen (now married) to George. Manager George at a very early period was managed by me after a common fashion, for many a time and oft on his grandfather Thompson's corner I handled him as I could not to-day, but much as I do some Glendale children—pull their hair, pat their cheeks and say silly nothings, if anything.

Of baby George let me say he was good looking enough to have been born in Glendale and some peculiarities were quite Glendale-ish. He was extremely good natured. I never saw a frown on his face, but a smile like a full moon was very common. I know nothing of his young manhood looks, but his newspaper picture would give him standing among the average west side youths where the first Mayor Harrison said, "God had placed so many worthy people because He loved them." The Thompson block cornered on Adams and Throop, as stated, running four numbers south on Throop. Mr. Thompson, Mrs. Sunday's father, occupied the corner, No. 2. The next number south on Throop was the Sunday home. Here they lived and here the older children were born and educated in large part. It was my pleasant duty to be the principal speaker when Helen was graduated from "Grammar" to "High," and for two years following this I saw her en route to the "McKinley High" as I was on my way to the city hall.

Enlarged demands soon put Mr. Sunday in hard work, and how he stood up under it all is to-day marvelous in our eyes. He was called in from a city in Iowa to preach his wife's father's funeral, on which occasion I was present, as my acquaintance with Mr. Thompson had been of long standing. Parting of the ways came when I came to the coast, and

A REMARKABLE LAD

Kenneth Maurice Elrod is a boy the world may hear of some day. Kenneth is five and a half years old and lives with his mother at the Glendale Conservatory of Music. He has never been to school yet, and has received no training whatever, but has an intensely inquiring, investigating mind, above the average boy, even of his age, and is already able to read with remarkable ease. When he meets with a new word, he sets the whole house in a stir until he knows what it means and how it is pronounced, and once these two points are settled, the word is his, and for his age he has acquired an amazing vocabulary. He is a regular reader of the Glendale Evening News, and is much interested in the war news. The great war is one of his absorbing themes, and he devotes a good deal of thought to it, but he reads pretty much everything and anything that comes his way.

He has a working knowledge of an automobile engine, can add and subtract, is familiar with colors and their shades, and has acquired an assortment of miscellaneous information. Kenneth is rather an attractive little fellow, with deep blue eyes and very fair hair. It is also reported, under the rose, that a certain little girl in the neighborhood has a strong affection for Kenneth but just how far the affair has gone is probably known only to the little girl and Kenneth.

He loves the movies, does Kenneth. He thinks they are the greatest ever, and who do you think is his hero? Douglas Fairbanks. Kenneth thinks that Douglas Fairbanks is the greatest actor on the screen—and the greatest man besides.

It was on account of his poor health that he came here with his folks from St. Louis three years ago. He was so pale and sickly looking it was remarked by those who saw him; but to-day he is the picture of health.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, AUGUST 25, 1917

THE GAS RATE RULING

That a contract entered into between a municipality and a private corporation for a public service may prove, in time, to be "only a scrap of paper," has been given fresh evidence by a recent decision of the Railroad Commission. This decision, handed down August 21, permits the Southern California Gas Company to increase its rates in Glendale and other cities from 68 cents to 80 cents per thousand feet, and to fix the minimum at 50 cents. It will shoulder an additional annual burden upon the people of Glendale of $10,000 or more. Besides this, the decision gives permission to increase the industrial rate for natural gas from 15 cents per thousand feet to 25 cents.

At the time the Southern California Gas Company obtained its franchise here, the agreement was made that the people of Glendale should never be requested to pay a higher rate for gas than the company was at the time receiving in the city of Los Angeles. But that agreement may now be set aside by the gas company, and what makes the ruling all the more glaring, a decrease in the rate for Los Angeles was made simultaneously with an increase for Glendale; that is, the outlying cities are to be required to make up for the Los Angeles deficiency.

It appears also that Glendale was given no opportunity whatever to make an appearance in the case, and the same no doubt holds true with regard to the other suburban cities. Glendale received no notification in the matter. Only the gas company was represented. It would be interesting to know just what argument the gas company submitted, in view of the agreement, and what rule or precedent guided the Railroad Commission. The least Glendale was entitled to was a hearing, and the fact that was denied us, taken together with all the circumstances, makes it all the more necessary that Glendale institute a thorough investigation and seek the justice inherent in our contract.

A contract is made to be kept. That is the view the law takes of it. More than that, it is a moral compact, for the honor of the contracting parties is involved. The business of the world involves the element of honor, and without honor there could be no business, because there could be no confidence. A corporation that repudiates its contract repudiates its honor, and the dishonor is immeasurable when the offense is against the people at large, when it takes the form of gouging the public, and would seek to justify its course on a merely legal sanction.

WAR MARS NEW YORK HARBOR EXCURSIONS

The war has put pep into harbor excursions. No longer does the small motor launch, the cat-boat or houseboat wend its way down the harbor unchallenged and unmolested. One really appreciates the fact that America is "in" after a water jaunt. Every craft, large or small, is held up by the government patrol boats and asked for an account of itself. Of course the large steamers are easily discernible and therefore not stopped. But woe betide the private yacht or craft of any description that attempts to get by. It may cruise along for miles, its occupants smiling at the thought of putting one over on Uncle Sam. At this juncture a business like little patrol boat is liable to come along-side. A murderous looking mounted gun may be seen and from the boat a stentorian voice directs that the craft put back and report to the mother ship. And the craft that tried to run the gauntlet goes back.

Another stern reminder that the United States means business is the buoys marking the position of the great steel chain extending across the harbor. The chain is designed to take care of any U-boats that come this way. The harbor is an unhealthy place for a becalmed sailboat. "Twould be decidedly unhealthy, the authorities will tell you, to allow your boat to bump into any stray floating object. Mines are no respecters of ships. "War's a nuisance," is the way one fair sailor expressed it.

HEAVY FOOD EXPORTS

Limited supplies of 1916-1917 are not decreasing the rate at which foodstuffs are moving out of the United States, according to a compilation by the National City Bank of New York. This shows that the quantity of meats and meat products exported from the United States in the fiscal year 1917 aggregated nearly 2,000,000,000 pounds, compared with 1,250,000,000 pounds in 1914, the year prior to the war, while the quantity of breadstuffs exported in 1917 was 357,000,000 bushels against 152,000,000 in 1914.

The largest increase of exports occurred in fresh beef, of which the quantity exported in 1917 was 197,000,000 pounds, against 231,000,000 in 1916 and 6,400,000 pounds in the fiscal year 1914, the year which closed just before the beginning of the war. Of canned beef the quantity in 1917 was 68,000,000 pounds against 51,000,000 in 1916 and 3,500,000 pounds in 1914. Of bacon the exports of 1917 were 667,000,000 pounds against 580,000,000 in 1916, and 194,000,000 pounds in 1914, and of ham and shoulders 267,000,000 pounds against 282,000,000 pounds in 1916, and 166,000,000 pounds in 1914. Lard shows a slight decrease in exportation, being 445,000,000 pounds in 1917 against 482,000,000 in 1914, while neutral lard, lard compounds and oleo oil also showed a slight decrease. The exports of condensed milk alone in 1917 amounted to $23,000,000, against $12,400,000 in 1916, and $1,341,000 in 1914.

Of breadstuffs, wheat alone shows a total of 150,000,000 bushels in 1917, 173,000,000 in 1916 and 88,000,000 bushels in 1914, while flour in 1917 is about the same as in 1914. Corn exported in 1917 was 65,000,000 bushels against 38,000,000 in 1916 and 9,000,000 bushels in 1914. Oats exported in 1917 amounted to 89,000,000 bushels against 96,000,000 in 1916 and 1,860,000 in 1914.

The values in all cases are of course much greater in 1917 than in 1914. The total value of breadstuffs exported in 1917 is $575,000,000 against $436,000,000 in 1916 and $165,000,000 in 1914. The total value of meat and dairy products exported in 1917 is approximately $400,000,000 against $291,000,000 in 1916 and $146,000,000 in 1914.

Exports of foodstuffs in the fiscal year exceed in value those of "Other kinds of insurance provide for losses that may be sustained; life insurance provides for an inevitable loss.

The premiums on other kinds of insurance are an expense; the premiums on a life policy are payments on account of an asset—for at some time the policy must mature and be paid.

Other kinds of insurance are expedient; life insurance is essential. A building may never burn, a ship may never sink, but all men must die."

Providing against premature death or sure old age is the finest form of protection. Let me talk to you about it.

TUJUNGA

The state highway will be completed through the Valley this winter and Sunset boulevard should be paved at least to the club house, but better if its entire length was paved.

Fred Johnson and wife were at their home on Pine street over Sunday.

Monte Vista Valley will be two miles nearer to Los Angeles by the way of the Ivanhoe bridge to Seventh and Olive, that the city of Los Angeles is now letting the contract for. Instead of turning down the Fernando road into the city via North Broadway, we will follow Brand boulevard in Glendale about the same as the Pacific Electric. Big things are doing while we talk of war.

Frank Green was a visitor from San Pedro over Sunday.

Wilmot Parcher and wife entertained twenty-one of their friends on Sunday, from Glendale, Montebello and Hollywood.

Richard Frost left on Thursday via Santa Fe for Detroit, Mich., where he will spend the coming winter with his father.

Mrs. Colburn of Stephens Way brought in a basket of very nice peaches, plums, nectarines and grapes from her garden. Mrs. Colburn has unaided and alone cleared her land, planted the fruit, and is now reaping the reward of her labors. Mrs. Marsten also brought in some fine late Crawford peaches weighing nine ounces, that tasted just as delicious as they looked. There are some very fine J. H. Hale peaches bearing for the first time, but we have not had the chance to weigh any of them yet. Mrs. Charles Dean also remembered us with a basket of early Crawfords, Wixon plums and Kadota figs.

Mrs. Heald and children are in Ontario for the next two months during the grape season. The son, Russell, is helping in the vineyard.

Mrs. Mandary and daughter have rented the home of Mr. Paul on Stephens Way for the winter and will occupy it after September first.

Mr. Aten of Los Angeles has rented the "Bide a Wee" cottage for the next two months.

A great many are busy putting in potatoes for winter use; some are trying out planting in a pen 8x8x8, in layers. This method has been described in numerous agricultural papers, and should the plan prove feasible the ordinary garden can supply a large family.

When the aqueduct broke, the Los Angeles water officials ordered that citrus orchards would be served first and the beet fields and home gardens were allowed to suffer the loss. It takes eight years to restore a citrus grove and only eight weeks to restore a garden. Don't forget this when water is short.

Richard Brissenden, who was engaged in civil service work in Los Angeles, has been assigned a position in the civil service work in the war department at the District of Columbia.

Mr. Correa, of the store, is visiting with his daughter near the beach and Chas. W. Dean is taking his place for the week.

Mr. Hutchinson of the Glendale mail force was in Tujunga the first of the week and purchased the bees owned by Mrs. Duprey. He will move them across the valley to his apiary on the Wright ranch, near the Verdugo Hills.

Mr. Frank Herrick purchased the Reichard lot on El Centro this week through Dean & Co.

Some of the Red Cross knitters of Tujunga went to La Crescenta on Thursday to aid the ladies in the knitting line of work.

Mrs. Geo. Osborne and children were in Los Angeles for two days this week.

When building stone bungalows of small size we should remember to put them well back on the lot, so that a larger house may be built in front in later years. This is particularly so when building a garage. The garage on corner lots if built of stone should be put into the inside corner of the lot. Wooden structures can be moved, but when we build of stone we must plan many years in advance. Some very fine homes are building now and it would be a shame if substantial structures of stone had to be dynamited in a few years to permit of expansion and growth.

Capt. and Mrs. Clark, of Hyde Park, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, of Los Angeles, were callers on Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Kearney of El Centro and San Ysidro road Wednesday. Capt. and Mrs. Clark were neighbors of the Kearneys when they were residents of Hyde Park.

QUICK RETURNS

At a Princeton reception a young sophomore said to the English poet, Alfred Noyes:

"After I graduate I want to go into some business that promises quick returns."

"Try magazine writing, my boy," he said.—Detroit Free Press.

Do all the good you can and no harm where you can not do good.

SUNLAND

Sunday being Mr. Wester's last day as pastor of the Baptist church in Sunland, a full house is desired. The ladies of the church have arranged for a picnic dinner in the park. We are truly sorry to lose Bro. Wester as he and his beloved wife have endeared themselves to every member of the church as well as those outside the church. Everybody invited Sunday, August 26.

Any one wishing a lovely home in beautiful Monte Vista Valley, see Mrs. Huse at the postoffice. One acre, 30 trees, flowers, lawn, six room house, 1½ stories, bath, solar heater, sleeping porch, electricity, built-in buffet and book case, cellar, everything modern. All for $3000 if taken at once.

Mr. Arthur Akens and cousin, Harry Akens, left Wednesday for a trip in the north to look up a location and see what prospect there is for work.

The Sunland school will open Tuesday, September 11th, with Marion Jones of Los Angeles as principal and Emily Soutes of Los Angeles assistant. Miss Jones will teach the primary grades and Miss Soutes the intermediates. The only thing in the way of a successful school year is the lack of school room, as the teachers come highly recommended.

called Wednesday evening to discuss the mode of transportation of the pupils. Mr. L. T. Rowley called the meeting to order and Mr. Percher of Tujunga was elected chairman and Mrs. Garner secretary for the evening. A committee composed of Mr. Percher, Mr. Rowley and Mr. Garner was appointed to confer with the city council of Glendale and others interested to see if the stage carrying the pupils could not enter Glendale without paying the bond and tax required in the city ordinance. Motion made and carried for Mr. Sims to carry the pupils direct to Glendale if possible. If not, to the end of the car line. After discussing different things in connection with the transportation, the meeting adjourned.

UTILIZE CORNMEAL FLOUR

Americans are addicted to the use of the light, fluffy loaf made of high grade patent white flour. For economic and patriotic reasons a taste for the coarser, darker but no less wholesome breads should be acquired. With housekeepers all over the country saving a few cupfuls of flour, the nation will be able to conserve a supply of wheat that will help win the war.

Cornbread may be made with yeast by using three cupfuls cornmeal, two cupfuls whole wheat or white flour, two cupfuls milk, two cupfuls water, two tablespoons molasses, two tablespoons shortening, one tablespoon salt and one yeast cake.

Heat the milk and water to boiling. Add to it slowly one cupful cornmeal and stir until it thickens. Put these ingredients over a pan of hot water or in a double boiler and cook for half an hour. Remove, adding molasses, shortening and salt. When lukewarm, add yeast cake, which has been dissolved in one-fourth cupful of water. Add one cupful of cornmeal and one cupful of whole wheat flour. Beat with wooden spoon until smooth. Put in a covered bowl and let rise till double its bulk. Add the remainder of the flour and cornmeal and knead until smooth and not sticky. Divide into three parts and shape into loaves. Put into well oiled pans and let rise until double in size. Bake in a moderate oven forty to forty-five minutes.

LIVINGSTONE'S HOUSE PRE-SERVED

Measures have been taken by the British government to preserve the remains of Dr. David Livingstone's house at Koloben, or Kolobeng, Bechuanaland, and the graves in its vicinity. Here Dr. Livingstone lived as a missionary among the Bechuanas before setting out upon his great journeys of exploration. With the aid of the native chief, Sechele, the ruins of the house have been fenced and protected by a shed, and the site is to be kept clear of jungle and placed under the care of the headman of a neighboring village.—Scientific American.

TOMATOES AND GRAPES

An Italian grape grower accidentally discovered that the presence of tomato plants in his vineyard made short work of the phylloxera, with which his vines were infested. This insect destroys both the root and the stem of the grapevine.

yet two years ago when they were in the Southland it was pleasant to meet them at the Alexandria, where they gave me a very cordial greeting. It may be possible that we may meet during this Los Angeles campaign, but whether we do or not it will be in my daily petitions that the Master will stand by his zealous messenger and bless his message of good will to men, resulting from his able appeals to turn to the Lord and seek, find, and ever after enjoy the peace that flows like a river through the souls of the believers.

In a general way it is easily seen by any earnest seeker after the truth that the entire Sunday outfit stands for the best things in life, and that being so, it ill becomes any one or any organization to belittle or seek to minimize the efforts made for uplift and betterment, of which there is such crying need on every hand.

My own long life in Illinois, extensive acquaintance in all parts of the state, and active participation in Sunday work, League and Endeavor conventions, enables me to speak from observation of Mr. Sunday's work in the regeneration of so many cities, made dry and remaining so, that the Sucker state is soon to pass into the bone-dry column.

It is not my purpose to pass any special eulogy on Bro. Sunday or his methods. These have passed beyond the experimental stage, adopted by men and approved in the high court of Heaven. If there is a man any where who sees not the need for the Sunday uplift, that man himself should be "brought in" and it is in order everywhere to lend a hand to help along a movement that meets with such universal approval. The visit of the young man to Glendale, as is set for Thursday evening next at the united "Brotherhoods" at the M. C. church, should draw every young man in Glendale to hear his message.

I cannot handle you now George, as I did years ago, but I can link you with your father and mother and ask God to bless the lot in every good work for making this world better.

SAMUEL PARKER.
